Social factors

"A man is known by the company he keeps"

- The social environment is the society in which an individual is born and brought up.
- It includes the family, school, peers, neighborhood, to which an individual is strongly exposed.
- The individual is strongly affected by the kind of experience he has in his social environment.

Geographical Environment

- Man comes to form ideas and attitudes according to the physical environment he lives in.
- Ex: Eskimos have a culture different from that of the Indians is due to the fact that the former have a geography different from the latter.

Culture

Culture

CULTURAL

The culture in which one lives in, that may involve traditional practices, norms, customs, procedures, rules and regulations, precedents and values, all are important determinants of personality.

Moreover, the creed, religion and believes are also very important factors of personality determinants.

Abilities and Interests

- Intelligence and mental functioning – it helps in making adequate adjustments and in collecting facts and understanding relationships.
- Level of aspiration and achievement motivation – these factors determine our reactions in various situations and thus affect our personality growth and direction.
- Will power – An individual with a considerable amount of will power will be able to make decisions more quickly than others.

Situational Factors

Although these factors do not literally create and shape up an individual's personality, situational factors do alter a person's behavior and response from time to time.

The situational factor can be commonly observed when a person behaves contrastingly and exhibits different traits and characteristics.

A silhouette of a person in a yoga pose, with arms raised and hands clasped above their head, set against a bright sunset sky. The person is standing on a beach with mountains in the background.

“You are always a valuable, worthwhile human being, not because anybody says so, not because you're successful, not because you make a lot of money, but because you decide to believe it and for no other reason”

-Wayne Dyer
